

Coaching Question Quick Reference for PTQ

Toolkit Page 1: Evaluate Your Pipeline

- Walk me through your Zoom Out: Quantity, Deal Size, Mix, Balance. Where are you most exposed?
- Which lever are you pulling this month and what's the next step to move forward?
- Which deals are honestly “not likely” and which should we walk away from?
- What accelerator within your control speeds your top deal up?
- How did you get here and what's your gap?

Toolkit Page 2: Evolve Your Growth Strategy

- Which of the six boxes will fill your gap?
- Where do you have a story to tell? Where can you add value the buyer hasn't considered?
- Which buying centers are experiencing change, internal or external, that creates emerging demand?

Toolkit Pages 3–4: Annual Plan

- Which valuable actions did you complete this week, and do they map to your measurements?
- Do your measurements map to your quarterly goals, and your goals to your key success drivers?
- What's your personal goal beyond what IBM assigned, and how will you measure it?

Toolkit Page 5: Prioritization & Efficiency

- Which Top-tier accounts get most of your meetings and what's the most valuable action in each?
- How are the account team and business partners aligned on this plan? How are you collaborating?
- What's stealing your Return on Time? What goal have you created to improve this?

Sales Formula Planner

- What's your gap this period: Goal minus Sold minus Pipeline?
- How many meetings does your formula require this week? Are you on pace?
- What will get in the way, and what changes starting tomorrow?

Appendix B — The Coaching Accountability Cadence

When	What	How
Within 1 week of the course	First plan-review meeting	Seller shares their annual plan; review the toolkit together; discuss questions; set a 30-day follow-up date.
Weekly	Pipeline review	Review the whole pipeline against the Sales Formula meeting number—not just a few key deals.
Monthly	Toolkit review	Refresh Zoom Out/In, growth strategy, and valuable actions. The toolkit is a living document worked alongside the manager at least monthly.
Quarterly	Planner + QBR	Re-run the Sales Formula Planner; refresh the territory plan for QBRs; re-align account tiers with the team and business partners.
